Jordan is an intelligent and funny, 16 year old boy. He is fun to be around and very easy to get along with. Jordan enjoys spending time with friends, playing basketball, watching television, playing guitar hero and video games. He enjoys many different sports such as; baseball, skateboarding, football, and golf. Jordan's sport of choice is basketball and enjoys playing on the Junior Varsity Team. Jordan also enjoys eating his favorite Chinese food and pizza.

Jordan is in the 10th grade at his local high school. He is a very intelligent young man who does well in school. Jordan earns good grades and takes pride in his work. This school year, Jordan doubled his class load and looks forward to graduating early. Because of the extra load, Jordan is earning a lower score than he would like in one of his classes.

Jordan gets along well with teens his own age and also does great with smaller children, however tends to try and parent the other kids. At times, Jordan will not act his age and needs to be redirected to age appropriate actions. Jordan can also push the envelope with his foster parents when he does not get his own way. In order for Jordan to succeed, he needs a high level of supervision. Jordan will thrive in a home with much love, structure, supervision, commitment, and a strong male role model.
