

"I am an outgoing person. I love to make new friends. I am looking for a nice, fun, and outgoing family. I would like a family that loves to travel."

~Kalob

As Kalob said himself, he is an outgoing, friendly young man. Kalob loves video games, basketball and swimming. He is a very intelligent young man and absolutely loves his math and science classes in school and can often be found reading. He loves to travel and wants to go to Italy some day.

While Kalob loves learning, he does have some difficulties in school with organization and disrupting others. He is currently attending a behavioral school to help him with his behaviors. It is expected that Kalob will attend the local public school in the fall. Kalob is doing very well and was recently named student of the month.

Kalob will require structure in his adoptive home and accepting parents who can care for him. Kalob is diagnosed with PTSD and ADHD, which requires counseling and medication.

Kalob is currently adjusted in his foster home. He has issues with being defiant, stealing, and lying. His family will need to have patience as he adjusts, but with structure he can thrive. He has responded well to such an environment and is very loving. Kalob will test boundaries, but with understanding, patience, commitment, and love he can succeed.
